The Philippine Department of Agriculture (DA) has temporarily banned all imports of domesticated and wild birds and their products including poultry meat, day-old chicks, eggs and semen from Malaysia. The decision is based on a report submitted by Malaysia to the Office International des Epizooties (OIE) August 19, 2004 of a confirmed outbreak of highly pathogenic avian influenza (HPAI) in the country.

The ban was formalized through DA Memorandum Order No. 23, dated August 20, 2004. The order became effective on August 23, 2004.

To date, there has been no reported occurrence of avian influenza in the Philippines.
